

Abstract of Disclosure

5 A new and distinct pond cypress Taxodium ascendens named 'Morris' characterized by its medium-oval habit of growth, its winter hardiness, and resistance to breakage from wind and ice is described. 'Morris' propagates readily by grafting and the resulting asexual clones maintain the distinguishing characteristics of medium-oval growth habit, hardiness, and resistance to breakage.

10